Social Emotional Learning

By: Ms. Luna

The workshop aimed to bring awareness to the importance of SEL and how it can positively impact young student's self-management and self-awareness skills. Parents were invited and we explored and demonstrated skills related to self-regulation for children. The workshop was interactive and engaging. District SEL coaches came together to facilitate the workshop to assist in conducting engaging social emotional learning stations.

Henna Tattoos

Henna designs are synonymous with celebration. The night before a major event like a wedding, it's common practice to decorate hands – and sometimes even feet – with the popular natural dye. Whether you're considering it for your nuptials – or perhaps even a holiday like Eid or Diwali in certain cultures – a henna tattoo can be a great way to celebrate.

Week of The Young Child
by: Miss Murphy

Our PreK students celebrated "Artsy Thursday". The students used paint sticks and markers to draw with their peers on paper. Students drew pictures of their friends, family, and different shapes. Students also wrote their names as well.

Guilty or Not Guilty?

Recently, the 8th Grade visited the Superior Court in Atlantic City to witness a civil court case and discuss careers in court. There are over ten careers in the courtroom.

Culinary Class!

"Gardening club" gives lettuce to
"Culinary class" for their dish!

Thanks to Dr. Pierre and Mrs. Stinson for moderating the RAS Gardening Club. We are currently growing lettuce. It is dirt free!
Next crop is basil!!

Kindergarten Science

Kindergarten students are studying living and non-living things in science class thus we have planted radishes during our class time to observe and record their growth. Additionally, we extended their learning experience by adding a few enrichment elements:

Aero-gardens, plants left in the dark verse sunlight, and partnering with Dr. Pierre's gardening club to witness the harvesting of lettuce and their nursery.
